- Question 1. Mr. Partovi stated that the contract was all inclusive; however there was some discussion as to equipment complete replacement for failure. Can you please clarify the intent of the contract? The specifications are ambiguous .
- Answer 1. The Library will be responsible for the replacement of any equipment beyond repair.
- Question 2. Mr. Partovi stated that it was mandatory to have insurance on the chillers. We are having trouble finding an insurance company willing to insure a 43 year old piece of equipment. Can you please let us know who is insuring it currently?
- Answer 2. The current insurer is The Simkiss Agency, Inc. For more information, contact Procurement Department Customer Service, bid.info@phila.gov or 215-686-4720.

Question 3. It was stated that one chiller is to be replaced before this contract comes into effect. Can you please state the make and model of the new equipment?

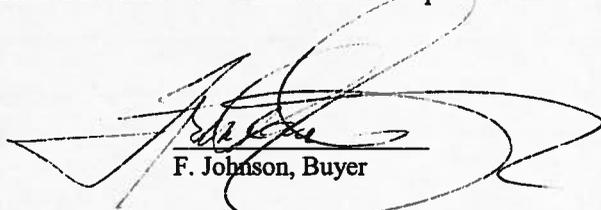

Answer 3. Arctichill.....Model # ACW250BT4044-LC460

Question 4. Will there be a turn over period, where the winning contractor has an opportunity to make sure all equipment is functioning properly before taking over maintaining said equipment. If there are repairs needed to equipment immediately will that be on a T&M basis, or will the previous contractor be required to repair/replace? Additionally how long is this period to last?

Answer 4. Each bidder will have an opportunity to examine the equipment during the mandatory site inspection. After this inspection, it is incumbent upon each bidder to immediately notify the City of any equipment it deems to function improperly. At the start of the new contract, the winning bidder must assume full responsibility for managing and maintaining the HVAC system located at the Central Library.

The City will not entertain any additional questions regarding Bid #S5WJ4640 at this time.

Please sign, date and return this addendum with your bid to the Procurement Department, 1401 J.F.K Boulevard, Bid Room 170A, Philadelphia, PA 19102-1685 as it now becomes a part of the proposal.
